September 2008

Dear Campus Community Member:

Attached you will find a comprehensive report of the many safety mechanisms that are in place on the University of Wisconsin–Madison campus. This report is part of our ongoing effort to inform you of the safety programs and services available, the crimes that are reported to our police and security personnel, and the steps you can take to maintain a safe and secure campus. It also is provided as our compliance document as called for under the Crime Awareness and Campus Security Act of 1990 and subsequent amendments that led to its being renamed the Jeanne Clery Act in 1998.

We in the Offices of the Dean of Students, along with our many campus and community partners take the commission of crimes against our students, faculty, staff, and visitors very personally. It is our desire to aggressively investigate reported crimes and put systems in place to support the victims of crime in our campus community. Prevention, however, is the best cure. We all need to make it clear that our persons and property are secure and protected by a responsible, vigilant, and caring population of involved people who report suspicious and unlawful behavior immediately to the University of Wisconsin Police Department (UWPD). Please do your part by getting involved.

Thank you for the important role you play in keeping our campus and city community safe. We appreciate and recognize the role played by UWPD, the Student Advocacy and Judicial Affairs unit, and other safety-focused offices on campus. Most importantly, everyone who belongs to our campus community plays a role in campus safety. We encourage you to stay actively engaged in making our campus a safer place, and to take care of your fellow Badgers.

Sincerely,

Lori Berquam
Dean of Students

Campus Safety

This document is one of many mechanisms designed to provide information on crime prevention, procedures for reporting crime, resources for victims, and crime statistics to enhance the safety and security of everyone who visits, studies, or works at the University of Wisconsin–Madison.

Many campus offices are actively working to support and enhance campus safety. The following offices have significant responsibility for collecting and reporting crime data:

- Offices of the Dean of Students (Student Advocacy and Judicial Affairs)
- University of Wisconsin Police Department
- Office for Diversity and Equity
- University Health Services
- In addition to the offices listed above, representatives from these offices assisted with the completion of this report:
  - University Communications
  - University Subcommittee on Sexual Assault/Dating Violence
  - PAVE: Promoting Awareness, Victim Empowerment

Security Measures and Enforcement Authority

University of Wisconsin Police Department (UWPD)

The University of Wisconsin–Madison Police Department (UWPD) is a full service, 24-hour agency with 68 sworn officer positions. Officers are armed and deputized. All officers have received 520 hours of basic training and are certified by the State of Wisconsin. They are also required to continually upgrade their skills through quarterly in-service training sessions. Enhanced 911 and computer-aided dispatch services are available in the communications center and mobile data computers are mounted in all marked squad cars. A recognized leader in policing, UWPD has nationally recognized special units in the bike and mounted patrols. UPWD was the first campus agency in the state to establish a “community police officer” position with a satellite office, and currently has four community police officers with plans for more. The university's peace officers cooperate with local police and other state and federal authorities in the exercise of their responsibilities.

UWPD is represented on University committees that address sexual assault, domestic and dating violence, traffic safety, moped safety, Arboretum safety and security, white collar crime, alcohol and other drugs (including the chancellor’s alcohol group and AOD Task Force), and the intervention team which addresses campus safety concerns and mental health issues. UW–Madison police receive continued training throughout the year for professional development. The training includes four separate in-services, two crowd control in-service programs, and daily shift briefings. Officers are informed of legal updates, stalking, cyber-stalking, sexual assault, firearms qualification, domestic violence, rapid shooter drills, emergency vehicle operations, natural disaster readiness, major incident response, computer forensics, evidence collection, terrorist threats, narcotics/gangs, CPR/AED and first aid, weapons of mass destruction, and crime scene preservation.

Security and Safety on Campus

General access to and use of the facilities at UW–Madison is governed by Chapter UWS 21, Wisconsin Administrative Code, and institutional policies on file in the Office of the Chancellor. In accordance with Wisconsin Statue 36.11(2), UWPD is staffed by peace officers who meet the standards of the Wisconsin Law Enforcement Standards Board and have the power to arrest and bring before the proper courts persons violating the law on university property.

Security is provided in the maintenance of the university's facilities through a number of mechanisms, including limitations on hours of operation, policies on keys, restricting access to those bearing proper identification as university staff or students, the issuance of after-hour building passes for academic buildings, the provision of adequate lighting, and making available outside “blue light” telephone call boxes that are connected directly to the UPWD dispatcher for emergency assistance. Specific security mechanisms may vary with the type of university facility.

Emergency Management Unit

The Emergency Management Unit, established in 2004 in large part to manage Homeland Security terrorism prevention programs for the UW–Madison campus and several of the UW System schools, has rapidly expanded into other areas of emergency preparedness. The unit coordinates various university and community entities to ensure that the UW–Madison students, faculty, staff, visitors, and the community are prepared to respond to emergencies, recover from them, and mitigate against their impacts. Emergency Management also works closely with several of our campus partners to develop and implement UW-Madison’s crisis communication plan.

Crisis and disaster events require campuses to not only prepare for such events, but they also require an understanding of response capabilities and limitations. It is impossible to predict exactly when a crisis or disaster will occur, or the extent to which they might affect the campus. Through deliberate planning, preparing, and training, UW–Madison can greatly minimize losses from such events.

When an emergency occurs, the Emergency Operations Center (EOC) is activated. During the activation, key university leadership meet to facilitate sheltering of evacuees, search and rescue, law enforcement, debris removal, and to provide needed resources. The Emergency Management Unit is also responsible for developing and maintaining the campuswide Crisis Response Plan (CRP), facilitating the completion of Occupant Emergency Plans (OEP) for each facility on campus, and coordinating Continuity of Operations Planning (COOP) for all UW System schools. The unit provides training and information on all 4 phases of emergency management: preparedness, response, recovery, and mitigation.

Student Advocacy and Judicial Affairs (SAJA)

Student Advocacy and Judicial Affairs staff work in collaboration with staff from other student life departments across campus, including University Health Services, UWPD, and University Housing.

The Student Advocacy and Judicial Affairs (SAJA) team members support the academic mission of UW-Madison by providing advocacy, prevention, intervention, and referral services to students in their living-learning-working communities in order to foster citizens who exercise personal responsibility, ethical decision making, and cross-cultural competency.

The staff of the Student Advocacy and Judicial Affairs unit of the Offices of the Dean of Students, has two primary functions. First, to provide advocacy and support services to students and the university community; and second, to manage the university’s academic and non-academic misconduct systems.

Blue Light Emergency Telephones

There are over one hundred blue emergency telephones located throughout campus with a direct connection to the UWPD. All emergency phones (with the exception of emergency phones located inside campus buildings and elevators) have a blue light above them. All emergency phones are labeled “Emergency.”

UWPD officers regularly respond to calls in university-owned residence halls. A committee comprised of police officers, residents, student staff, and professional staff of these residence halls meets regularly to address the security concerns of the students occupying these facilities. Both student unions are also regularly patrolled by uniformed police officers. Additionally, UWPD has staff liaisons assigned to university-owned apartments (Eagle Heights) and each residence hall. These officers meet regularly with building managers, look at crime trends in these areas, identify root causes for the criminal activity, and utilize crime prevention and problem solving techniques to promote campus safety.

Intervention Team (I-Team)

The Intervention Team (I-Team) is comprised of staff members from McBurney Disability Resource Center, Counseling and Consultation Services, UWPD, University Housing, and University Apartments, and is staffed by the Director of SAJA. This team is set up to discuss situations that involve students who may be struggling with mental health issues, including possible suicidal ideations and disruptive conduct. This team has the ability to assist and refer students to appropriate campus resources. The Offices of the Dean of Students also convenes this team.

Security and Safety off Campus

The Madison Police Department (MPD) has primary jurisdiction in all areas off campus. MPD routinely works with UWPD and campus judicial affairs officers on any serious incidents occurring off campus when a UW–Madison student is involved. MPD has a designated staff liaison to the Langdon Neighborhood, the off-campus area that is home to many officially recognized student organizations (fraternities and sororities). Under advisement of the Fraternity and Sorority Advisor, student members of the Greek community governing boards (Interfraternity Council and Panhellenic Association) are in regular communication with the Langdon Neighborhood Police Officer regarding safety concerns and local ordinances.

Daily Crime Log

UWPD maintains a daily log of crimes and incidents that occur on campus that is accessible to the public upon request. This information includes the nature of the crime, the date, time, general location, and a summary description of the event. This daily log is available at Police Headquarters during normal business hours. Log entries for the previous day are updated each morning by 8 a.m. In order to protect an ongoing criminal investigation or the identity of a victim, the Chief of Police or her designee may classify information as confidential and prohibit its release.
Communication about Campus Crimes

Through a variety of media, UW–Madison provides information to students and employees about campus security procedures and practices, encourages them to be responsible for their own security and the security of others, informs them about crime prevention strategies, and communicates with the campus community about reported crimes that pose serious threats to students and employees. This section highlights some of the ways in which campus offices communicate information about crime on campus.

When a Crime Occurs

UWPD will, upon receipt of information involving a potential threat to members of the university community, work cooperatively to ensure that the community receives the information that is necessary for them to make informed decisions regarding their personal safety and security.

UWPD works on a case-by-case basis with the Madison Police Department, University Communications, University Housing, University Health Services, the Offices of the Dean of Students, and other relevant campus bodies to determine how safety information will be disseminated to members of the campus community through a wide variety of communication methods (e-mail, Web, communication through residence hall directors, etc).

Campus Safety Web site

UW–Madison has a new Web site designed to improve education and awareness about campus safety. This site reminds members of our community that everyone plays a role in safety, security and emergency preparedness at UW–Madison. University community members can learn about crime prevention information, campus resources and emergency procedures. See: http://www.safeu.wisc.edu/

WiscAlerts

WiscAlerts is the name for UW–Madison’s emergency notification system. In the event of a campus emergency, students, faculty, and staff will receive timely information and updates about a situation and steps you can take to stay safe. The philosophy behind WiscAlerts is to send a consistent set of messages across all platforms in an effort to reach as many members of the campus community as possible, in as short an amount of time as possible.

The university has four main notification systems, each able to reach different subsets of the campus community, depending on the nature of the emergency. They are:

- WiscAlerts–E-mail: Mass e-mail which can be sent to all campus users.
- WiscAlerts–Text: The university’s text-messaging service, designed to reach mobile users who may be away from their computers or offices. This is an opt-in service.
- WiscAlerts–Broadcast Voicemail: This system can send a voicemail message to all 10,000 faculty and staff users of DoIT’s voicemail system.
- WiscAlerts–Reverse 911: A new service using a Dane County system that can call landline phones in a certain geographic area with a pre-recorded message.

Additional communications systems that may be used in an emergency include reports sent to local media, information posted on UW–Madison’s WiscAlerts Facebook group, the UW–Madison Parent Program, 1–800 information numbers, call centers and the university’s Web pages. More information about WiscAlerts can be found online at www.safeu.wisc.edu/WiscAlerts. In any emergency, information is posted at on the university’s home page as soon as possible.

SAFE Nighttime Services, Badger Watch, and Citizens Academy

SAFE (Safe Arrival For Everyone)

Nighttime Services are the university’s comprehensive late-night transportation system, available to students, faculty, staff, and university guests. SAFE has three components: SAFeride Bus, which provides free circular bus transportation during work and night hours on and near campus; SAFeride Cab, which provides a limited number of free cab rides to students/staff/faculty who need to get from campus to home safely at night; and SAFEwalk, a free nighttime escort service on campus. UWPD has a staff liaison to the SAFEwalk program, and is involved in training the staff members. SAFEwalk staff have direct communication with UWPD via hand-held radio in case they have any safety concerns.

http://www2.fpm.wisc.edu/trans/Safe/SafeOther.htm

Badger Watch, a volunteer-based crime prevention effort modeled after the national Neighborhood Watch program, involves over 600 student, faculty, and staff volunteers each academic year who are trained to promote personal safety, office safety, and responding to unwanted building patrons. UWPD provides continuing support to the volunteers and provides direct access to specific campus personnel. UWPD also sends specific crime alert information to the volunteers. The Badger Watch program holds an annual conference to provide volunteers updated and additional training such as: CPR, building emergency plans, advanced Badger Watch training, CERT (citizen emergency response teams), travel safety, and safe mail... handling. Badger Watch was started in 2002 at UW–Madison.

In 2005, UWPD started offering an annual Citizens Academy, which is an intensive training program for citizens to learn more about the requirements of what it takes to become and maintain basic police certification in Wisconsin. The academy promotes crime prevention through UWPD’s commitment to problem-oriented policing. Topics covered in the intensive six-week training include: a ride-along with a patrol officer; sexual assault response (provided by the Dane County Rape Crisis Center); tours of the police department and detoxification center; education on alcohol and other drugs; an overview of Wisconsin Law as it pertains to bicycles, mopeds, and pedestrians; firearm use; defense and arrest tactics; and emergency vehicle operation and control. Participants must pass a rigorous background check and be at least 18 years of age; this growing program is very popular among students studying criminal justice, law, and psychology.

UWPD regularly publishes and distributes The Badger Beat newsletter, which contains information about recent crimes on campus, community, and personal safety, and articles from community officers and residence hall liaisons about the areas they cover. To promote additional safety education, UWPD has developed and regularly distributes pamphlets on hate crimes, bicycle and moped laws, sexual assault, acquaintance rape drugs and dating violence, theft, crime-reporting options, alcohol, emergency procedures, and information about campus/community resources.

The chancellor and the dean of students address the state of crime on campus, alcohol use, and safety through letters to incoming students, press releases, and at campus/residence hall convocations.

All new employees at UW–Madison are provided with information about sexual harassment and campus safety resources in their orientation packets.

UWPD and representatives from the Student Advocacy and Judicial Affairs unit of the Offices of the Dean of Students are available to present to academic classes, departments, student organizations, campus offices, and residence halls (both private and university owned) regarding campus safety. Presentations highlight steps to enhance personal safety as well as community responsibility for creating a safer campus.

UWPD meets with student union representatives prior to every Union special event (including a dance, concert or other registered student event) to discuss security and event guidelines.

The Langdon Street Neighborhood Watch Program was created in the Fall of 2006 as a collaborative effort between the Madison Police Department and the UW–Madison Greek community to improve the safety of the Langdon neighborhood (an off-campus neighborhood that is home to many fraternities and sororities). Fraternity and sorority members volunteer to patrol the streets on Friday and Saturday nights from 11 p.m.–3 a.m. Flashlights, LEDs, and reflective vests are provided. See more at www.uwgreek.com/safety.asp

Each semester, social fraternities and sororities send representatives to workshops on risk management, alcohol, sexual assault, and hazing. These students receive education about how to host a social event in their houses safely and securely; training from a Madison City Police Officer about staying safe on and off campus; clear definitions of sexual assault, consent, and hazing; and personal choices concerning alcohol use. The programs give students information about risk factors for Greek leaders, liability reduction, and creating safer facilities.
Violence Prevention at UW–Madison

The prevention efforts of sexual assault and intimate partner violence are multi-faceted and ongoing at UW–Madison. These efforts are also linked to, but do not replicate, campus safety education activities. For the purposes of this report, prevention efforts are organized into four central categories (interactive prevention programs; professional development; events and activities; and informational materials). Members of the aforementioned campus collaborations on sexual assault and dating violence are largely responsible for the ongoing initiatives.

Sexual Assault, Dating Violence, and Stalking Prevention

Violence and the fear of violence can disrupt the working and learning processes of the university community. The effects are costly, not only to individual victims but also to society as a whole: fear replaces safety, doubt replaces confidence, and distraction replaces concentration. While campus safety and all forms of violence are deeply concerning on the university campus, sexual assault, stalking, and intimate partner violence are crimes that require a distinct set of interventions and preventions. In part, this is due to the insidious nature of sexual and dating violence, which are largely perpetrated by someone who the victim knows and in many cases, trusts.

University Health Services is home to the UW–Madison Violence Prevention Specialist, a full time professional staff member working across campus to develop primary violence prevention initiatives at UW–Madison. Primary prevention efforts systematically address violence before it occurs by addressing root causes, environmental factors, and community attitudes. Some strategies for promoting primary prevention include: actively engaging the leadership of men as allies in violence prevention, facilitating broad-based violence prevention collaborations such as planning teams and campus-community partnerships, skill-building in the areas of bystander intervention, and promoting protective factors such as skill development in healthy intimate relationships.

More information about sexual assault, relationship violence, stalking, and violence prevention strategies can be found at www.uhs.wisc.edu/assault.

Campus and Community Collaboration

Since the UW–Madison is an extraordinarily large and decentralized campus, successful sexual and dating violence prevention efforts rely on active and ongoing collaborations between community members, survivors, the violence prevention specialist, victim advocates, judicial bodies, faculty, students, and a variety of campus offices. There are two campus collaborative bodies focusing explicitly on sexual assault, stalking, and intimate partner violence.

First, the University Subcommittee on Sexual Assault and Dating Violence is a campuswide body focused on institutional planning, response, and information sharing on sexual assault and dating violence. The Subcommittee reports to the Dane County Community Coordinated Response to Sexual Assault (CCRSA) out of the District Attorney’s Commission on Sensitive Crimes and advises other campus offices as applicable. In the 06–07 academic year, the Subcommittee met monthly and had representation from the Offices of the Dean of Students, University Health Services, University of Wisconsin Police, University Housing, International Student Services, University Athletics, the Dane County District Attorney’s Office, the Dane County Rape Crisis Center, Domestic Abuse Intervention Services, and student organizations. Central accomplishments include: an end of year retreat/strategic planning session, an educational cell phone drive, the sponsorship of several prevention education events, professional development workshops, and ongoing needs/opinion assessments of the campus.

Similarly, University Health Services is home to an interdisciplinarily internal working group on sexual assault and relationship violence to promote training, screening, compassionate response, understanding campus services, and violence prevention efforts in the four divisions of University Health Services. In the 06–07 academic year, the working group met monthly and had representation from a Nurse Practitioner, Psychologists, a student, the violence prevention specialist, a Psychiatric Nurse, a rape victim advocate, and an MD. Central accomplishments include: a half-day all staff training for UHS employees about the dynamics of sexual violence/intimate partner violence, unit-wide health care response to these crimes (for all staff members, including reception, administration, and call center staff), ongoing assessment of training needs, and the development of patient education materials.

Interactive violence prevention programs offered at UW–Madison

PAVE (Promoting Awareness, Victim Empowerment) Violence Prevention Workshops

PAVE is a student organization dedicated to ending sexual assault and dating violence through education and activism. Trained PAVE educators offer one-hour, student-led presentations about sexual assault and dating violence to students, faculty, staff, and community members. The focus of these programs is supported by research in primary violence prevention education and campus input. Activities include: clearly defining sexual assault and dating violence, defining consent, encouraging bystander intervention strategies, role play activities that encourage the audience to empathize with survivors, information about the options survivors have for reporting, identifying and responding to root causes of sexual violence, and encouraging healthy intimate relationships. Information about PAVE can be found at uwpace.rso.wisc.edu.

In the 2007–08 academic year, 41 students participated in PAVE Peer Education and became student leaders in sexual violence prevention.

In the 2007–08 academic year, PAVE members facilitated violence prevention programs for approximately 1,173 students, staff, and community members.

Greek New-Member Education: PAVE Sexual Assault Prevention

In concert with the Student Organization Office, University Health Services, the Panhellenic Association, and the Interfraternity Council, PAVE provides a violence prevention workshop (described above) to all pledges of fraternities and sororities belonging to the Panhellenic Association and Interfraternity Council, who have policies in place mandating this education for all new members.

In the 2007–08 academic year, PAVE members facilitated violence prevention programs for approximately 684 new members in the Greek community.

Fraternity Action Coalition

A collaborative project of PAVE, University Health Services, the School of Social Work, the Dane County DELTA Project, the Panhellenic Association and Interfraternity Council, the Fraternity Action Coalition (FAC) is a closed, intensive one-credit class for men in fraternities to learn from one another (and from victim services professionals) about the intersections of masculinity, sexism, homophobia, and violence against women. Central topics include: bystander intervention, supporting a survivor, and creating counter stories of masculinity. FAC is offered each semester and meets for two hours each week for six weeks. The class draws from research-based curricula developed by Men Can Stop Rape, D. Malstead’s Fraternity Violence Education Program, men’s experiences, and it works to support existing violence prevention efforts on campus through a model of social norms change, particularly in the Greek system.

In the 2006–07 academic year, the Fraternity Action Coalition served approximately 60 men in class settings, resulting in the creation of a neighborhood watch, editorials about the role of men in ending violence against women, and developing leadership skills in young Greek men to become educators in sexual assault/dating violence.

New Student Orientation (SOAR)

UW–Madison welcomes approximately 5,600–6,000 first-year students to campus each year, most of whom attend SOAR (Student Orientation, Advising, and Registration), a two-day series of programs for incoming students and parents in the summer. Each year, staff from UWPD (officers and detectives), University Health Services, University Housing, and staff from the Offices of the Dean of Students present to students and/or parents about campus safety concerns.

The first seven to ten days of the fall semester are called “Wisconsin Welcome,” providing events and programs to new and returning students about health, safety, academic integrity, and campus services. See www.newstudent.wisc.edu.

Each year, the UHS violence prevention specialist works with the Center for the First-Year Experience to develop a training segment on sexual assault and dating violence for students attending SOAR. The segment provides clear definitions of sexual assault, dating violence, and consent, focuses on violence as a community (not personal) concern, and outlines available resources on campus for survivors. This information is published in the Orientation Handbook each year, and is repeated during the safety sessions and resource fairs at SOAR.

In the 2006–07 academic year, approximately 5,000 students attended SOAR and the corresponding safety/expectation programs.

Student Athletes

In partnership, the Athletics Department, Offices of the Dean of Students, Rape Crisis Center, PAVE, and the UHS violence prevention specialist work with student athletes to further their understanding of sexual assault, consequences for perpetrators, and reporting options.

In the 2006–2007 academic year, over 400 male student athletes attended a presentation about the role of male athletes in ending violence against women and sexism. The presentation was offered by Don McPherson, a former NFL quarterback who now speaks publicly about consent, sexual assault, and masculinity. This presentation was also attended by an additional 200 nonathletes.

Other Interactive Violence Prevention Efforts

Other student organizations and campus offices often consult with the violence prevention specialist, the Dane County Rape Crisis Center, and leadership of the University Subcommittee on Sexual Assault/Dating Violence to provide violence prevention education throughout the year. These programs include education in the following areas: the Campus Women’s Center; Sex Out Loud; University Housing; private residence halls; the Multicultural Student Coalition; academic departments such as the School of Social Work, Women’s Studies, Psychology, and Nursing; and academic advisor/student personnel professional organizations.

In sum, interactive violence prevention programs and efforts at UW–Madison during the 2006–2007 academic year served a recorded 7,360 individuals (this number does not reflect attendees of programs not recorded in this report).

Professional Development

Professional development and training sessions on violence prevention and intervention efforts are also made available each year for students, faculty, and staff in order to better to promote an institutional response to sexual assault.
and dating violence. These trainings and professional development opportunities are focused on: root causes of violence and social norms change; campus and community resources and options for survivors; bystander intervention; responsibilities for supporting survivors who chose to disclose/report, campus policies; engaging men as allies; and judicial processes. Additionally, PAVE, the student organization that provides much of the student-led education at UW–Madison, provides 30 hours of training for their facilitators each semester in a two-credit class setting. These sessions are also open to the entire student body.

In the 2006–07 academic year, over 1,200 students, faculty, and staff participated in professional development workshops related to sexual assault and dating violence coordinated by the University Subcommittee on Sexual Assault and Dating/Domestic Violence. Specific presentations included topics on: responsibilities for University Housing staff; crisis response and mental health response for Counseling and Consultation Staff; information on restraining orders and stalking; promoting consent-based education; domestic violence services in Dane County; a forum on campus safety provided by WISCAPE; and two media breakfast events focused on responsible reporting of these crimes.

Events and Activities Promoting Education on Sexual Assault and Dating Violence

Each year, student organizations and campus offices, including PAVE, the Campus Women’s Center, University Health Services, UWPD, the Offices of the Dean of Students, Multicultural Student Coalition, Student Personnel Association, the Women’s Studies Department, and the University Subcommittee on Dating Violence/Sexual Assault regularly host events to further discussion of the impact of sexual assault and dating violence on campus. These events involve lectures for students in helping professions to understand the skills needed to respond to rape survivors, improv/comedy presentations on consent and sexuality, statewide conferences, small-group discussions about the intersections of sexual assault and race, and vigils to honor victims of domestic violence.

Below are some of the programs on sexual assault and dating-violence prevention that took place during the 2006–07 year; events and activities like these are regularly supported and attended by members of the campus community:

- August 2006: The Wisconsin Union Directorate Music Committee and PAVE hosted a Wisconsin Welcome funk concert against sexual assault. Over 4,000 students attended this event, where they received condoms, temporary tattoos, informational material, and information delivered from onstage about the community problem of sexual assault and campus resources. This event engaged a wide base of students who may not have been interested in attending a program on sexual assault in a fun and safe atmosphere.

- October 2006: The Madison community observed Domestic Violence Awareness Month with a vigil for victims of domestic violence, an educational cell phone drive, and a breakfast for media personnel on responsible journalism. An estimated 400 people were in attendance at these large events.

- December 2006: Over 400 sorority women and UW Female Athletes attended a self-defense workshop by T.A.K.E. Defense Training Program. This program provided the students with hands-on self defense and assertiveness techniques. Several campus organizations formed a coalition to observe World AIDS day, with a specific event focused on the connections between STI prevention and sexual violence. Thirty people attended this event.

- March 2007: “Sex Signals,” a popular comedy show about the intersections of dating and sexual assault, visited UW–Madison. Over 200 students were in attendance.

- April 2007: In observance of Sexual Assault Awareness Month, PAVE and University Health Services hosted a series of violence prevention programs with guest speaker Mike Domritz and his violence prevention program, “Can I Kiss You?” 250 students were in attendance. A student-led production about the realities of survivors’ lives called “Silence Is Violence,” was staged twice during this month, with an estimated attendance of 70.

Informational Materials about Sexual Assault, Dating Violence, and Stalking

University Health Services, the Campus Women’s Center, PAVE, the Offices of the Dean of Students, UW Greek Life, the Dane County Rape Crisis Center, University Health Services, and UWPD publish information about sexual assault, dating violence, and stalking on their Web sites as well as in print. Please see www.uhs.wisc.edu/assault for more information.

A select overview of printed informational materials include: a brochure outlining campus/community options for survivors (offices that may be able to help, information on reporting), information for men’s leadership, building healthy relationships, bystander intervention, and basic information about the dynamics of sexual assault and dating violence. The content of this material encourages perpetrator accountability, community safety, and debunking the myths of sexual/dating violence as part of creating a safe community. This material encourages students to be empowered to make safe choices for themselves without sending victim-blaming messages.

The University Subcommittee on Sexual Assault and Dating/Domestic Violence maintains a campuswide e-mail list to disseminate information about meetings, events, and relevant news stories. The subscription to this list is over 200 campus members.

Members of the campus and/or community can join by sending a blank e-mail to join-preventviolence@lists.wisc.edu. Regularly, student organizations produce advertisements in campus newspapers, posters, flyers, and promotional materials about sexual assault, consent, and dating violence. These materials are newly developed and distributed each year through University Housing, private residence halls, at events, and resource fairs.
These two police agencies frequently work together on investigations involving students. UW–Madison cooperates with local police authorities to monitor and record information concerning criminal activity occurring away from the campus, but involving university students or university recognized student organizations.

UWPD is one of only three agencies in the county having a permanent employee assigned to the Dane County Narcotics Enforcement Team (Dane County NET). This employee’s duty time is dedicated solely to the Narcotics Enforcement Team. UW–Madison Police annually reports their crime statistics to the FBI under the UCR (Uniform Crime Report).

Amendments to the Campus Security Policy and Campus The Crime Statistics Act, effective October 1, 1998, required additional reporting requirements. Crime statistics are now reported by location. Statistics are also expanded to include crimes that occurred in buildings or on property owned or controlled by the university or university-recognized student organizations and in public areas adjacent to the campus, such as sidewalks, streets, and parking areas. Specific statutory definitions of the categories are explained below in the respective footnotes.

Safety Tips

General Crime Prevention Tips

Crime does not simply happen. Like a triangle, crime must have three sides or elements present to be complete. Those three elements are: ABILITY, DESIRE, and OPPORTUNITY. Remove any one of these elements and the triangle can’t be formed and the crime will not occur.

You can help the UWPD reduce crime on the University of Wisconsin–Madison Campus by reducing the “opportunity” for crime. By limiting the opportunity for crime, you remove one side of the crime triangle and limit the ability for the criminal to commit the crime.

Keep these crime prevention tips in mind and you will greatly reduce criminal incidents at home and here at the University of Wisconsin–Madison:

► Call the police immediately if you see or hear something suspicious. Report any crime or suspicion of a crime at once. Dial 911 in an emergency or when a crime is in progress. Be sure to tell them your exact location if calling from a cell phone.
► Be wary of people who don’t appear to belong in the area. If you doubt that they belong in the area, ask them questions. If their answers are vague or suspicious, call the police.
► Keep your possessions in sight at all times. Don’t leave books or backpacks unattended anywhere—it only takes a matter of seconds for things to disappear.
► If you leave your office or room, even for a few minutes, LOCK THE DOOR! It’s much easier to invest the few seconds it takes than to spend the time later filing a police report and replacing the property.
► Never leave a wallet or purse on top of your desk; take it with you or lock it in a drawer.
► Avoid taking wallets, money, and jewelry into athletic facilities and storing them in lockers, which are targets for thieves.
► Mark your property: place marks inside your books. Use Operation ID to mark all valuable items.
► Use your drivers license number and the two-letter abbreviation for the state. Engraving tools are available from the UWPD 7 days a week, 24 hours a day.
► Be aware of your surroundings, other people around you, and places where someone could be hiding.
► Be alert to potential danger. If it doesn’t look or feel right, trust your instinct and leave.
► Walk with friends whenever possible. Use SafeWalk, SafeRide or the SafeBus when you can’t find someone to go with you.
► Avoid jogging or bicycling alone. If you must go alone, stay in well-lit and well-traveled areas.
► Don’t leave objects plainly visible in your car; secure them in the trunk whenever possible.
► Remember to shred any documents you discard that contain personal information.

Protective Behaviors

The victim/survivor is not responsible for being assaulted; only perpetrators are responsible for sexual assault and other violent crimes. Most sexual perpetrators know the person they violate—an intimate partner, recent acquaintance, a classmate. As such, most safety precautions listed below might not prevent a sexual assault, but may deter other criminals who prey on vulnerability.

All students can take protective measures to increase their personal safety and the safety of those around them. These measures are intended to promote safety and deter many forms of crime, including but not limited to sexual assault perpetrated by strangers and/or recent acquaintances.

►When going to a party or bar, if possible, let a friend or roommate know who you are with and where you will be. Leave an address and phone number when possible.
►When going to a party or bar, it’s best to go in groups and ask one member of the group to be the Designated Friend (like a Designated Driver). This person agrees to stay sober and to check in with other members of the group through the night. In some cases, members of the group agree that they won’t leave the party with someone else without first checking in with the Designated Friend.
►Be careful with anything you drink at parties. Colorless, odorless, and tasteless drugs are used to facilitate rape and can render a victim defenseless and powerless. Do not accept drinks from a stranger or leave your drink unattended. Remember that alcohol is the substance most commonly used to facilitate sexual assault, so be aware of your consumption, boundaries, and those of your friends.
►Alcohol is the most widely used debilitating agent in sexual assaults. Alcohol does not cause rape, but can make it more difficult for the parties involved to understand how consent is freely given and expressed.
►Be wary of anyone who doesn’t respect your boundaries around alcohol. If you say you’ve had enough and someone else keeps urging you to have more, this person likely does not have your best interests in mind. If you see someone pushing alcohol on someone else, say or do something to intervene. Take care of your friends.
►When in doubt about your ability to get home safely, call Campus SafeWalk or SafeCab at 262–5000. These services operate until 3 a.m. (6 a.m. during finals week) and can provide a safe way to get home.
At-Home Recommendations to Promote Safety

- Do not prop open an outside door for friends who come in late. Many assailants gain entry to apartment buildings and other group housing through doors that were left propped open by well-meaning friends.
- Have lights in all entrances.
- Use deadbolt locks on all doors. Due to a new city ordinance, all apartment buildings must be equipped with locks on all exterior doors, basements and laundry rooms. If your apartment lacks these locks, speak with your landlord or, if necessary, the City of Madison Building Inspectors.
- Equip all windows with secure locks and curtains or blinds.
- Don’t put your full name on the mailbox (or in the phone book).
- Always know who is at your door before opening it.
- If a repair person is at the door, ask for identification.
- If a stranger wants to use your phone, offer to make the phone call yourself while the stranger waits outside.

- If you find an intruder in your apartment, leave immediately. If that’s not possible, throw something through a window to attract your neighbor’s attention.
- If you think you hear a prowler, or feel otherwise suspicious, call the police.

When Walking Alone, Be Prepared, Alert, and Consider These Precautions

- Be aware of people walking behind you and/or following you.
- When possible, walk in a brisk manner on well-lighted streets away from bushes or alleys.
- Keep your hands and arms free and unburdened. Have your keys and cell phone accessible. Remain alert and maintain an assertive posture.
- Learn to yell “NO” or “BACK OFF” loud and forcibly to attract attention and help from others. If you hear someone yelling for help, find a way to get them help without endangering yourself. Simply yelling or causing a scene may deter a criminal from further action. Practice this so that IF the time comes you are ready.

When Traveling

- Lock your car doors. Also lock the doors when you get out, and check the back seat before you get back in.
- Park in a well-lighted or busy area or near the entrance of where you are going.
- Have a functioning interior overhead light.
- If you have car trouble, stay in your car and close your windows (when someone approaches). If someone stops, ask them to call for assistance for you.
- If you see someone having car trouble, note the location and call for assistance for them.
- If you feel that you are being followed in your car, drive to a busy, well-lighted area or to the police station. Attract attention by using your horn and lights.

When Using Public Transportation

- Try to wait in a well-lighted place.
- Note who is getting on and off with you.
- Sit near the driver of a bus and don’t fall asleep.
Reporting Options
(Legal, Campus, and Judicial Boards)

UWPD, as the primary enforcement authority, will respond to and investigate all crimes that occur on university lands. It is the policy of UWPD to encourage accurate and prompt reporting of all crimes to the department or the appropriate local police authority.

Reporting Options for Victims of Sexual Assault

Following a sexual assault, victims are urged to get support and information immediately by reporting to the Dane County Rape Crisis Center, 608/251–7273, the city or campus Police, the Offices of the Dean the Students, 608/263–5700 or University Health Services 608/265–5600. Individuals at these agencies can provide emotional and counseling assistance, advise you about your rights, inform you how to preserve evidence, and discuss your formal and informal complaint options. They can also connect you to sensitive and specialized emergency medical treatment and evaluation services. The police need all the clothing worn at the time of a sexual assault. Do not change clothes or wash, shake or brush off your clothes. Also, do not take a shower, bathe, or douche since this will affect the physical exam and evidence obtained during the exam. The clothing may be returned after the conclusion of the case. The following sections provide details on how and why to report to the Police and information about services available from the Dane County Rape Crisis Center, the Offices of the Dean of Students, and University Health Services.

These options may or may not include legal charges.

The UWPD are concerned about sexual assaults occurring both on and off campus. In order to combat this serious problem, we request and urge any victim/survivor of a sexual assault or attempted sexual assault to call 911 immediately. Depending upon the location of the phone being used to make the report, the call will be directed to the appropriate police department—either UW–Madison Police or the Madison Police Department. Statistics on sexual assaults reported to campus authorities during 2005 are available in page 13 of this report.

Remember; making a report of sexual assault does not mean that victims/survivors must press charges. Although the police prefer that victims/survivors sign a complaint against the assailant, it is ultimately their decision and the UWPD will respect that decision. UWPD encourages victims/survivors to make a report, even if they are uncertain about whether or not they want to press charges. If a victim/survivor would like to have someone accompany him or her when making a police report or when having a physical exam they are welcome to do so. Some victims/survivors have had friends, roommates, House Fellows/resident assistants, or an advocate from the Dane County Rape Crisis Center accompany them through these processes.

Both the UWPD and Madison Police departments have female officers available to interview female victims/survivors of sexual assault. The police realize negative feelings about reporting sexual assaults exist among women in the community. The only way this feeling can be eliminated is through positive, effective contact with qualified police personnel. Both Departments employ detectives who have received special training in the area of sexual assault and other sensitive crimes. Victims/survivors of sexual assault often know their assailants; they may be friends, acquaintances or family members. Victims/survivors of these assaults may be more reluctant to report the incident, and the police understand the reasons for their hesitation. However, the police believe there can be restitution for victims/survivors of acquaintance sexual assault and encourage reporting of any and all sexual assaults. If you have questions about how sexual assaults are investigated, please feel free to call the UWPD Detective Bureau at 608/265–2598. The 24-hour non-emergency police dispatch number is 608/262–2957. If you are in immediate danger, or need immediate assistance, call 911.

Disciplinary Processes on Campus

Procedures for Campus Disciplinary Action in Cases of Sexual Assault

Sexual assaults are covered in the university student misconduct code as part of the University of Wisconsin Administrative Code Chapter 17, “Non-Academic Student Misconduct.”

► Following a report of an alleged sexual assault, an Assistant Dean in the Offices of the Dean of Students/Student Advocacy and Judicial Affairs team will initiate the following process:

► The Dean meets with the victim to ensure the victim understands how to report the incident to the police.

► If the victim is willing, the Dean will assist the victim in contacting the police.

► Once the student victim’s safety and needs are attended to, the Dean will review the disciplinary process, discuss informal options and connect them to other support services.
If the alleged assailant is a student, the Dean will schedule a second appointment with the victim to describe the student discipline process in detail and answer questions. If the victim is willing to have the university consider disciplinary action against the alleged student assailant(s), the Dean conducts an investigation as follows:

- Reviews statement from victim and police report if available.
- Sends letter to alleged assailant(s) describing allegations and requesting meeting as part of disciplinary investigation.
- Meets with alleged assailant(s) to gather information and explain process.
- Collects additional information, interviews other witnesses, etc.
- Consults with University Office of Administrative Legal Services.

When the investigation is complete, the Dean writes a summary on the findings in a letter. If the Dean concludes that sufficient evidence of misconduct, in accordance with University of Wisconsin System Administrative Code Chapter 17, exists to warrant disciplinary action, the report will include recommended sanctions. This letter is sent to the alleged student assailant and shared verbally with the alleged student victim. If the Dean recommends university disciplinary action or suspension or expulsion, a hearing is scheduled automatically. The alleged assailant has the right to waive this hearing and accept the sanction without going to hearing if he/she wishes. The hearing is conducted by an Hearing Examiner or the Non-Academic Misconduct Hearing Committee (at the choice of the accused assailant). The Hearing Examiner or committee hears from the Investigating Officer (the Assistant Dean) and the alleged student assailant to determine if misconduct occurred and, if so, imposes a disciplinary sanction. In any disciplinary hearing, it is the Dean’s responsibility to present witnesses and argument to support the allegation. The alleged student victim and the alleged student assailant each have the same right to be accompanied by one representative. Following the hearing the examiner or committee deliberates and the written decision is mailed to the committee/examiner, investigating officer, alleged assailant and victim. The disciplinary sanctions available to the Investigating Officer and the Committee/Examiner are disciplinary reprimand, probation, suspension, or expulsion. In cases where the sanction is suspension or expulsion, the student may make an appeal to the Chancellor. Detailed Information on the University Student Misconduct Code and disciplinary procedures is available online at: http://www.wisc.edu/students/

Sexual Assault and Sexual Harassment

Wisconsin statutes recognize that sexual assault, sexual exploitation by a therapist and harassment are serious criminal offenses. It is important for all members of the university to understand how these offenses are defined in law, and to be aware of the penalties. Excerpted below are the definitions and penalties of sexual assault. The law defines the words consent, sexual contact, and sexual intercourse. Consent means words or overt actions by a person indicating a freely given agreement to have sexual intercourse or sexual contact. A person under 16 years of age is incapable of consent as a matter of law. Teens 16 and 17 years old can legally consent to sexual contact; however, they are deemed incapable of consenting to sexual intercourse as a matter of law. People who have a mental illness or deficiency, and people who are unconscious or physically unable to communicate, are assumed to be incapable of consent, but that assumption can be challenged in court. Marriage is not a bar to prosecution for sexual assault. A person may be prosecuted for assaulting his or her spouse. Sexual contact is defined as any intentional touching of the intimate parts of a person, either directly or through clothing, by any body part or by an object, if that intentional touching is for the purpose of sexually degrading or humiliating the victim, or for the sexual arousal or gratification of the assailant, or if the intentional touching contains the elements of actual or attempted battery. Sexual intercourse includes any intrusion, however slight, into another person’s genital or anal openings by any object or part of another person’s body, or oral-genital contact.

Under another statute, Wisconsin delineates guidelines for the use of evidence in court. Wisconsin State statute 972.11 prohibits the use in court of evidence of the victim’s past sexual conduct. There are three exceptions to this. The judge may allow evidence of the victim’s past conduct with the assailant; evidence that could show the source or origin of semen, pregnancy or disease; or evidence of prior untruthful allegations of sexual assault made by the victim. Recent revisions in the law have allowed for further exceptions to be made at the judge’s discretion.

Notification to victims/survivors of and options for, and available assistance in, changing academic and living situations after an alleged sexual assault incident, if so requested by the victim/survivor and if such changes are reasonably available.

In addition to the above, Chap. 950 Wis. Stats., provides a victim's bill of rights, 950.01 Legislative intent. In recognition of the civic and moral duty of victims and witnesses of crime to fully and voluntarily cooperate with law enforcement and prosecutorial agencies, and in further recognition of the continuing importance of such citizen cooperation to state and local law enforcement efforts and the general effectiveness and well-being of the criminal justice system of this state, the legislature declares its intent, in this chapter, to ensure that all victims and witnesses of crime are treated with dignity, respect, courtesy and sensitivity; and that the rights extended in this chapter to victims and witnesses of crime are honored and protected by law enforcement agencies, prosecutors and judges in a manner no less vigorous than the protections afforded criminal defendants. Definitions and Penalties for Sexual Harassment

36.11(22)(1)(a) Wis. Stats.

University policy as well as state and federal law prohibit sexual harassment. Some acts may constitute both assault and sexual harassment. Unwelcome sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and verbal or physical conduct of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when:

- Submission to such conduct is a condition of employment, academic progress, or participation in a university program;
- Submission to or rejection of such conduct influences employment, academic or university program decisions; or
- The conduct interferes with an employee's work or a student's academic career, or creates an intimidating, hostile, or offensive work, learning or program environment.

Sexual Harassment

Tangible Action or Quid Pro Quo (This for That)

Sexual Harassment

Occurs when employment or academic decisions resulting in a significant change in status are based on an employee or student's submission to or rejection of unwelcome verbal or physical sexual conduct.

Hostile Environment Sexual Harassment

Occurs when verbal, non-verbal and/or physical conduct is:

1. Sexual and/or based on gender
2. Unwelcome, and
3. Sufficiently severe and pervasive to interfere with a person's work, learning, or program performance or to create a hostile, intimidating or offensive environment.

The determination of sexual harassment is made on a case-by-case basis looking at the whole record, including the circumstances (such as the nature of the sexual advances) and the context in which the alleged incidents occurred. Some behaviors, which may be acceptable in certain contexts, are inappropriate in the workplace or classroom, particularly if an objection is expressed.

Key points about sexual harassment include:

- Differences in power or status can be a significant component in sexual harassment. A person who seems to acquiesce to sexual conduct may still experience tangible action harassment or hostile environment harassment if the conduct is unwelcome.
- Harassment can occur between men and women or between members of the same gender.
- Sexual harassment may or may not involve a tangible injury (e.g., economic loss, lowered grades). A sexually harassing environment, in and of itself, may constitute a harm.
- Sexual harassment must be addressed and corrected regardless of the position or status of the harasser or the person being harassed.
- Conduct is not always offensive or unwelcome to the same degree when perceived by different people. Courts use a “reasonable person” standard to determine whether the contested behavior constitutes sexual harassment.
- In an academic or program setting, offenders can be faculty, instructors, lecturers, teaching assistants, coaches, tutors, or even fellow students or program participants. In the workplace, offenders can be supervisors, co-workers, or non-employees such as vendors or customers. Extensive information on the sexual harassment policy and procedures on campus:

SEXUAL ASSAULT PROTECTIVE BEHAVIORS

36.11(22)(1)(d) Wis. Stats.

If You Are Concerned About Possible Sexual Harassment

- We encourage early contact-consultation is not escalation. Timely discussion of people's concerns may allow resolution before alternatives become limited. The university will protect confidentiality to the extent possible under the law.

- Seek advice. Consult with your department chair, another divisional resource person, OED or another campus resource (listed above) to discuss options for resolution.

- Consider informing the individual(s) involved that the conduct is unwelcome and that you expect it to stop.

- Keep notes of what happened, when, where, and who was present. Retain copies of any correspondence.

- You may find it helpful to seek support from a trusted colleague. Be aware of your interest in keeping the matter as confidential as possible.

If You Are Accused of Sexual Harassment

- Early consultation may help avoid claims of retaliation and facilitate resolution of the situation.

- You will be informed of any complaint filed against you and provided with an opportunity to respond to the specific allegations.

- You should contact the OED or another campus resource (listed above).

- You may choose to seek private legal advice.

- Be honest when questioned about alleged conduct and explain its context.
If You Are in a Position of Authority
(E.g., Principal Investigator, Manager/Supervisor, Department Chair/Director, Dean)

- Sexual harassment can arise in a healthy environment but it often develops in negative climates. If you have concerns about the climate in your area, consult with one of the resources listed above to learn about proactive measures to improve the climate for all individuals.
- Distribute the Prohibited Harassment Policy to new faculty and staff and to all employees periodically and when there are modifications to the policy.
- Periodically remind employees of your expectation that they maintain a harassment free environment. Provide resources (e.g., this document, a link to the sexual harassment Web site).
- Schedule Sexual Harassment Informational Sessions and promote attendance by all department members.
- Encourage employees and students to come forward with questions, concerns, and allegations. Avoid discouraging persons from “going outside the department with problems.” (A person may not be comfortable reporting within the department and may not seek help if the department’s culture discourages outside assistance.)
- Take every complaint seriously and ensure that others do as well. Ensure that your department appropriately addresses all complaints. If you have questions about the scope of your responsibility, contact OED or another campus resource.
- Keep allegations confidential except on a “need to know” basis.
- Ensure that no retaliation occurs against the person making the allegations and that the person charged with harassment is not assumed guilty and/or disciplined on the basis of allegations.
- For the protection of both parties, comply with all applicable university procedures and ensure that your department fully cooperates with any investigation.

If You Are Approached by a Colleague or Peer

Listen to the allegation of harassment sympathetically but objectively.

Sexual Assault And Sexual Harassment

- Encourage the individual to contact someone who can explain alternatives available to resolve the situation (a Sexual Harassment Contact Person, department chair or other divisional resource, the OED, or other campus resources listed above).
- If requested, and if you are comfortable doing so, assist the individual in reporting the behavior.
- Keep allegations confidential, except as necessary to cooperate with appropriate university officials.

University Misconduct Policies and Procedures

Every member of the University of Wisconsin–Madison community has the right to conduct his or her academic and social life in an environment that is free from threats, danger, harassment, or other disruption.

UWS Chapter 17

The UW System and UW–Madison have devised regulations defining responses to behavior of students which interferes with the life and work of the University and its members. Chapter UWS 17 is a part of the University of Wisconsin Administrative Code and was adopted by the Board of Regents as a set of disciplinary procedures for the University System. It defines conduct by students that may result in University discipline because it causes harm either to another member of the University community or to the University itself. UWS 17 also describes the penalties which may be imposed and the procedures for carrying out disciplinary actions. Of course, due process for students accused of misconduct is an important part of these procedures. (Note: Academic misconduct is covered in UWS 14. UWS 17 applies to student conduct; faculty and staff are governed by other regulations.)

Non-academic conduct rules cover a broad spectrum of conduct involving students’

▶ behavior toward other community members

▶ actions on university property or

▶ actions related to a university activity.

A student may be subject to discipline for conduct that is or already has been the subject of a police citation or criminal action. This means that a student ticketed for an alcohol violation or charged with vandalism may also be subject to misconduct proceedings. A student may also be subject to discipline for conduct that is or has already been addressed by a University Housing breach of contract action.

UWS 17 defines prohibited conduct in the following areas:

(Note: See the UWS 17 policies for a complete description of offenses & penalties; see the UWS 17 procedures for campus specific implementation guidelines.)

▶ “For conduct which constitutes a serious danger to the personal safety of a member of the University community or guest.” UWS 17. 03(1). Examples include, but are not limited to: engaging in conduct that is a crime involving danger to property or persons such as sexual assaults; attacking or otherwise physically abusing, threatening to physically injure or physically intimidating a member of the university community or a guest; throwing objects at law enforcement personnel, or inciting others to do so; selling or delivering a controlled substance, or possessing a controlled substance with intent to sell or deliver; or tampering with fire or safety equipment.

▶ “For stalking or harassment.” UWS 17. 03(2)(a). Stalking and harassment are defined by state law. In part, “stalking” is described as intentionally “repeatedly following or remaining in visual or physical proximity to a person, or repeatedly conveying verbal or written threats or threats implied by conduct....”

“Harassment” is described in part as intending to harass or intimidate another person by “striking, shoving, kicking or otherwise subjecting another person to physical contact or attempting or threatening to do the same... or... engaging in a course of conduct or repeatedly committing acts which harass or intimidate another person, which serve no legitimate purpose.”

▶ “For conduct that seriously damages or destroys university property or attempts to damage or destroy university property, or the property of a member of the university community or guest.” UWS 17.03(3). A large portion of non-academic conduct matters involve damage to university property or the property of other community members by a student while under the influence of alcohol. Such conduct may result in a permanent disciplinary record.
Disciplinary Penalties
If a student is found to have engaged in non-academic misconduct under these rules, one or more of the following disciplinary sanctions may be imposed:

(a) A written reprimand
(b) Denial of specified university privileges
(c) Imposition of reasonable terms and conditions on continued student status
(d) Restitution
(e) Removal of the student from the course in progress
(f) Disciplinary probation
(g) Suspension
(h) Expulsion

The Disciplinary Process
If a report is received alleging that a student has engaged in conduct which is in violation of UWS 17, an Investigating Officer will investigate the matter. The student will be invited to meet with the investigating officer in an informal meeting. The purpose of that meeting is to hear any statements the student wishes to make and to answer questions about the procedures. The student may be accompanied by a person of his/her choosing at the meeting. If the student lives in Residence Halls and the alleged misconduct occurred in Residence Halls, a University Housing staff person will serve as an Investigating Officer. Otherwise, a staff member from Student Advocacy & Judicial Affairs will serve as an Investigating Officer.

If it appears that misconduct has occurred, the Investigating Officer will prepare a report describing the misconduct and the sanction he or she believes is warranted.

The Right to a Hearing
If the investigator determines that misconduct occurred, the student has the right to a formal hearing to contest the decision that the student engaged in misconduct, the disciplinary action imposed, or both. The hearing may be available at the student's request or may be scheduled automatically, depending on the sanction imposed. When the discipline imposed is less severe, the student may request a hearing by submitting a written notice within 10 calendar days after the finding of misconduct. In cases where the discipline imposed includes suspension or expulsion, UWS 17 provides for the hearing to be scheduled automatically unless the student waives the right to the hearing in writing.

Hearings are conducted either by a hearing committee or by a hearing examiner, at the student's choice. Separate academic and non-academic misconduct hearing committees are appointed by the chancellor and include faculty, academic staff, and student members. The committee for a specific case is composed of at least three members with at least one student member. A hearing examiner is appointed by the chancellor from the faculty or academic staff. A hearing examiner or hearing committee conduct hearings in the same manner and under the same policies and procedures.

In any hearing (whether by student election or automatically scheduled) the student maintains:

- the right to have a representative present on his/her behalf, including the right to be advised by counsel at his/her own expense;
- the right to question witnesses;
- and the right to obtain a transcript of the proceedings at his/her own expense.
Can I Make a Report?
If you are being harassed, threatened or harmed by a student, or if you observe conduct which you believe may be in violation of university rules, you are encouraged to contact Student Advocacy & Judicial Affairs in 75 Bascom Hall (263–5700). A staff member will be happy to talk to you in confidence about the situation. Staff will then review with you which disciplinary procedures might apply, as well as other avenues for solving problems or taking action.

Note: UWS 17 covers non-academic student misconduct. Faculty and staff are subject to other university policies and procedures. The policies and procedures for student academic misconduct (cheating) are contained in UWS 14.

2007 Narrative Report to UW System

as required by Wis. Stat. §36.11(22)

Programming and Services on Sexual Assault/Harassment Prevention, Education, and Victim Assistance

INSTRUCTIONS:
Please answer the following questions:

1. Provide a description of the method used to annually distribute the required information, as described in Wis. Stat. §36.11(22)(1)(a-d), to all new and continuing students electronically or in printed format.

General campus safety, including sexual assault prevention, is one of the topics discussed amongst new students in small groups during the Student Orientation, Advising and Registration (SOAR) program. In addition to discussing how to keep themselves and their friends safe, students are also informed of support resources they can access if they are the victim of sexual assault. Finally, referral information is provided in an orientation folder which is distributed to all new students and their parents/family members.

2. Provide an explanation how the chosen methods ensure that all new and continuing students annually receive the required information. Wis. Stat. §36.11(22)(2).

The Offices of the Dean of Students has created a Web-based version of the publication Campus Safety (www.wisc.edu/students/safety/) and distributes an annual e-mail notification to all enrolled students regarding its availability. Hard copies are available by request from the Offices of the Dean of Students. Campus Safety includes crime prevention tips, information on reducing the risk of sexual assault, sexual assault reporting options, information for victims, sexual assault statistics and the Wisconsin State Statutes on Sexual Assault. Additionally, it includes information on university and community services and programs that work to curb and respond to sexual violence. The 2006-07 publication provides students with concrete crime prevention strategies for personal and property safety. Also, the University of Wisconsin Police Department maintains a Web site with area registered sex offenders’ names. Students can access the Wisconsin Department of Corrections Web site for further details on offenders. Pamphlets are available in every campus building which reference sexual assault awareness. The University Health Services, the Campus Women’s Center, PAVE, the Offices of the Dean of Students, UW Greek Life, the Dane County Rape Crisis Center University Health Services, and University Police publish information about sexual assault, dating violence stalking on their Web sites as well as in paper form. Please see www.uhs.wisc.edu/assault for more information.

While SOAR is not a required program, all new students must attend SOAR if they would like to register for courses prior to the beginning of the semester. 99% of all freshmen and transfer students attend SOAR and therefore received both written and oral information regarding safety and sexual assault. For the summer 2007, 6500 students attended SOAR sessions.

3. Provide a summary of the format, focus, goals, and size of the orientation programming which includes the required oral and written information to new students, as described in Wis. Stat. §36.11(22)(1)(a-d).

The SOAR program is a one and a half day program for freshmen and a one day program for transfer students. The primary focus of SOAR is academic advising and course enrollment information. However, students receive information on the transition from high school to college, alcohol, safety, sexual assault and campus resources. As stated above, for the summer of 2007, SOAR served approximately 6500 new freshmen and transfer students.

4. Describe two or three best examples of institutional initiatives, programs or services which assist student victims of sexual violence. The description should include the impact, benefit, or significant innovation of these highlighted programs.

The Women’s Clinic on campus provides excellent medical care for our sexual assault victims and works collaboratively with the Sexual Assault Nurses Program in the community. In addition, the University Health Services provide immediate crisis intervention by setting aside daily crisis appointments and a 24-hour crisis line through their Counseling and Consultation Services.

The Student Advocacy and Judicial Affairs (SAJA) a unit within the Dean of Students Office provides on-going advocacy for victims of sexual assault and hold student assailants accountable. SAJA works collaboratively with campus and community agencies (Rape Crisis, Sexual Assault Nurse Examiner, District Attorney’s Office, etc) in order to better serve our student victims. Our university detectives on sensitive crimes are available to student victims to answer questions and/or assist them in the criminal process.

Having the Rape Crisis Center (RCC) Satellite Office on campus continues to be a valuable service to our university community. The satellite office provides easy access for the university community, and it affords us the opportunity to partner with RCC on other initiatives, i.e. the Campus Women’s Center and RCC sponsor walk-in support groups for victims. For a second year, RCC will also provide Thai Chi as a Healing
Art program to sexual assault victims from campus.

During the 2007 school year, UW–Madison Police Department conducted 185 safety presentations throughout the year to students and staff members of the university to include: Sexual Assault, stalking, narcotics, workplace violence, theft, and crime prevention.

Institutional initiatives that best reflect UW Housing’s commitment to preventing sexual violence and assisting student victims of sexual violence are: Electronic monitoring and electronic locking systems in all UW residence halls, support of SAFE Nighttime Services, expectations and training of professional residence life staff to support victims of sexual assault and to collaborate with UWPD, ODOS, and other campus support services.

UW Housing commitment also includes a UW Housing Police Liaison Program, representation on the UW Campus Committee on Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence, hosting “One-in-Four” National consulting group that provided education on sexual assault prevention for both men and women; sessions for students and professional staff, involvement in a campuswide cell phone drive for Wisconsin’s Domestic Abuse Intervention Services and training of professional residence life staff on sexual assault reporting requirements.

5. Describe two or three best examples of ways the institution offers education or training in sexual assault prevention and protective behaviors, and the impact, benefit or significant innovation of these highlighted programs.

Violence Prevention at UW–Madison

The prevention efforts of sexual assault and intimate partner violence are multifaceted and ongoing at UW–Madison. A few prevention initiatives include:

Interactive violence prevention programs offered at UW–Madison

PAVE (Promoting Awareness, Victim Empowerment) Violence Prevention Workshops. PAVE is a student organization dedicated to ending sexual assault and dating violence through education and activism. Trained PAVE educators offer one-hour, student-led presentations about sexual assault and dating violence to students, faculty, staff, and community members. The focus of these programs is supported by research in primary violence prevention education and campus input. Activities include: clearly defining sexual assault and dating violence, defining consent, encouraging bystander intervention strategies, role play activities that encourage the audience members to empathize with survivors, information about the options survivors have for reporting, identifying and responding to root causes of sexual violence, and encouraging healthy intimate relationships. Information about PAVE can be found at uwpave.rso.wisc.edu.

In the 06–07 academic year, PAVE members facilitated violence prevention programs for approximately 600 students and 400 staff, faculty, and community members.

Greek New Member Education

PAVE Sexual Assault Prevention. In concert with the Student Organization Office, University Health Services, the Panhellenic Association, and the Interfraternity Council, PAVE provides a violence prevention workshop (described above) to all pledges of fraternities and sororities belonging to the Panhellenic Association and Interfraternity Council, who have policies in place mandating this education for all new members.

In the 06–07 academic year, PAVE members facilitated violence prevention programs for approximately 700 new members in the Greek community.

Fraternity Action Coalition

A collaborative project of PAVE, University Health Services, the School of Social Work, the Dane County DELTA Project, the Panhellenic Association and Interfraternity Council, the Fraternity Action Coalition (FAC) is a closed, intensive one-credit class for men in fraternities to learn from one another (and from victim services professionals) about the intersections of masculinity, sexism, homophobia and violence against women. Central topics include: bystander interven-
McPherson, a former NFL quarterback who now speaks publicly about consent, sexual assault, and masculinity. This presentation was also attended by an additional 200 non-athletes.

University Housing

Institutional examples of education and training in sexual assault prevention and protective behaviors for Housing staff and students are hosting “One-in-Four” National consulting group that provided education on sexual assault prevention for both men and women partnering with UHS to provide PAVE workshops in the residence halls, and promotion of campus and local training opportunities such as Wisconsin’s Coalition of Sexual Assault conference and UW’s upcoming conference on stalking in January 2008.

Other Interactive Violence Prevention Efforts

Other student organizations and campus offices often consult with the violence prevention specialist, the Dane County Rape Crisis Center, and leadership of the University Subcommittee on Sexual Assault/Dating Violence to provide violence prevention education throughout the year. These programs include education in the following areas: the Campus Women’s Center; Sex Out Loud; University Housing; private residence halls; the Multicultural Student Coalition; academic departments such as the School of Social Work, Women’s Studies, Psychology, and Nursing; and academic advisor/student personnel professional organizations.

In sum, interactive violence prevention programs and efforts at UW–Madison during the 2006–2007 academic year served a recorded 7,360 individuals (this number does not reflect attendees of programs not recorded in this report).

Events and activities promoting sexual assault and dating violence education

Each year, student organizations and campus offices, including PAVE, the Campus Women’s Center, University Health Services, University of Wisconsin Police Department, the Offices of the Dean of Students, Multicultural Student Coalition, Student Personnel Association, the Women’s Studies Department, and the University Subcommittee on Dating Violence/Sexual Assault regularly host events to further discussion of the impact of sexual assault and dating violence on campus. These events involve lectures for students in helping professions to understand the skills needed to respond to rape survivors, improve/comedy presentations on consent and sexuality, statewide conferences, small group discussions about the intersections of sexual assault and race, and vigils to honor victims of domestic violence.

The following are a few selected highlights of sexual assault/dating violence prevention and awareness events during the 2007 year; events and activities like these are regularly supported and attended by members of the campus community

March 2007: “Sex Signals,” a popular comedy show about the intersections of dating and sexual assault, visited UW–Madison. More than 200 students were in attendance.

April 2007: In observance of Sexual Assault Awareness Month, PAVE and University Health Services hosted a series of violence prevention programs with guest speaker Mike Domritz and his violence prevention program “Can I Kiss You?” 250 students were in attendance.

Institutional Obligation to Notify Faculty and Staff of their Reporting Obligations

The Office for Equity and Diversity (OED, http://oed.wisc.edu/) is the designated campus office for receiving employee reports of sexual assault and for compiling annual employee reports. The OED works with the Offices of the Dean of Students, which collects student reports of sexual assault, to provide the information to UW System each year. UW–Madison relies on reports from employees, students, and other members of the university community to meet its legal obligations.

Each year, Provost Patrick V. Farrell sends a memo to all employees regarding mandatory sexual assault reporting and the university’s Sexual Harassment Information & Resources project (by e-mail, and hard copy to those without e-mail addresses). The 19 February 2007 memo is posted on the provost’s Web site: www.provost.wisc.edu/memos/mandsas.html As an important component of the Sexual Harassment Information & Resources project, we continue to offer sexual harassment information sessions for academic and administrative units. At these interactive sessions, facilitators provide information about the law, university policies and campus resources; share advice about responding compassionately and effectively to sexual harassment concerns; and address sexual assault reporting requirements and resources. In November 2005, Chancellor D. John Wiley directed individuals holding limited appointments to attend. From Fall 2005 through Spring 2007, 1501 employees (including 292 limited appointees) participated in 56 sexual harassment information sessions. By 1 June 2007, 350 of 405 limited appointees (86%) had participated as required. The remainder are expected to attend sessions scheduled during the 2007–2008 academic year. From Fall 2005 through Spring 2007, 4,751 UW Hospital & Clinics staff received sexual harassment education through an outside law firm.

The UW–Madison campus defines “off campus” as “within one mile of campus.”
Our Sexual Harassment Information & Resources Web site [www.oed.wisc.edu/sexualharassment/] and companion brochure, Sexual Harassment: Defining and Addressing a Community Concern, explain the University of Wisconsin–Madison’s policies on sexual harassment and consensual romantic or sexual relationships. They provide information and guidance on what to do if an individual is harassed, accused of harassment, or contacted by someone who believes he or she has been harassed. In addition, they highlight the responsibilities of individuals in positions of authority (principal investigators, supervisors, managers, department chairs, directors, and deans). Both Web and print materials were updated in Fall 2006 to include additional information about campus safety, sexual assault reporting requirements, and resources for preventing and responding to sexual assault. Brochures are distributed at sexual harassment informational sessions including 15 Graduate Assistants’ Equity Workshops offered to Teaching Assistants and Project Assistants attending the OHRD Managers and Supervisors (MSD) Series; provided to students at Student Orientation, Advising & Registration (SOAR); and provided to employees at New Employee Orientation sessions offered each month.

Professional Development and Capacity Building to Address Sexual Assault/Dating Violence

Professional development and training sessions on violence prevention and intervention efforts are also made available each year for students, faculty, and staff in order to better promote an institutional response to sexual assault and dating violence. These trainings and professional development opportunities are focused on: root causes of violence and social norms change, campus and community resources and options for survivors, bystander intervention, responsibilities for supporting survivors who chose to disclose/report, campus policies, engaging men as allies, and judicial processes. Additionally, PAVE (Promoting Awareness, Victim Empowerment), the student organization that provides much of the student-led education at UW–Madison, provides 30 hours of training for their facilitators each semester in a two-credit class setting. These sessions are also open to the entire campus community.

In the 06–07 academic year, over 1,200 students, faculty, and staff participated professional development workshops related to sexual assault and dating violence coordinated by the University Subcommittee on Sexual Assault and Dating/Domestic Violence. Specific presentations included topics on: responsibilities for University Housing staff; crisis response and mental health response for Counseling and Consultation Staff; information on restraining orders and stalking; promoting consent-based education, domestic violence services in Dane County, a forum on campus safety provided by WISCAPE; and two media breakfast events focused on responsible reporting of these crimes.

Alcohol & Other Drugs: Services and Programs

Campus Resources for Students

Our campus provides a variety of services to students. In order that we may intervene earlier and more effectively with students who are alcohol/other drug troubled, we provide training for counselors, House Fellows in university residence halls, resident assistants in the private residence halls, fraternity and sorority members, and any interested faculty and staff to help them identify and refer persons who may be having problems associated with alcohol or other drugs through their own or someone else’s use. If you are concerned about your own use of alcohol or other drugs, confidential information, assessment, referral, and short-term counseling services are available at UHS Counseling and Consultation Services (608/265–5600). There are no intensive treatment services available on campus. Insurance affects your ability to use off-campus alcohol and other drug service providers, and we urge all students to have adequate insurance coverage.

The PACE Project utilizes an environmental management approach to produce long-term campus and community change to reduce high-risk drinking. For more information, click on PACE at [www.uhs.wisc.edu].

Information Resources

A variety of informational resources are available to students. These include a free, confidential online assessment tool called e-CHUG (which gets 3,000 hits annually) to assess personal drinking, and posters and brochures available to students throughout campus.
alcohol and other drug abuse. We can also help put people in touch with the variety of community resources available to assist persons who are experiencing alcohol and other drug related problems. We know, however, that the most effective catalyst for positive change is the willingness of people who know and care for each other to talk to one another about these issues — to share values and expectations, to ask questions, to convey concern, to offer information and support. We ask you to work on this important communication with us; we will help in any way we can, and invite you to call us for assistance.

Disciplinary Sanctions

Violation of these provisions by a student may lead to the imposition of a disciplinary sanction, up to and including suspension or expulsion, under s. UWS 17.03(1)(b), Wis. Adm. Code. Students are often requested to participate in an alcohol and other drug (AOD) assessment provided by University Health Services (UHS), the Values and Influences Toward Alcohol class taught by UHS Counseling and Consultation staff, the e-CHUG online self-assessment tool and reflection papers that require the student to read excerpts from books such as Dying to Drink by Henry Wechsler and Beer and Circus by Murray Sperber as a part of their educational sanctions.

University employees are also subject to disciplinary sanctions for violation of these provisions occurring on university property or the worksite or during work time, up to and including termination from employment. Disciplinary sanctions are initiated and imposed in accordance with applicable procedural requirements and work rules, as set forth in Wisconsin statutes, administrative rules, faculty and academic staff policies, and collective bargaining agreements. Referral for prosecution under criminal law is also possible. Further, violations of ss. UWS 18.06(13) and 18.10(1), Wis. Adm. Code may result in additional penalties as allowed under ch. UWS 18, Wis. Adm. Code.

Employees who are convicted of any criminal drug statute violation occurring in the workplace must notify the dean, director or department chair within 5 days of the conviction, if the employees are employed by the university at the time of the conviction.
type of drug involved, the amount of drug confiscated, the number of previous convictions, and the presence of any aggravating factors. The distribution of a controlled substance to a minor can lead to the doubling of an authorized sentence term. Sec. 961.46, Stats. Wisconsin has formidable legal sanctions that restrict the use of alcohol in various situations. It is illegal to procure for, sell, dispense or give away alcohol to anyone who has not reached the legal drinking age of 21 years. Sec. 125.07(1)(a)(1), Stats. Every adult has a legal obligation to prevent the illegal consumption of alcohol on premises owned by the adult or under the adult’s control. Sec. 125.07(1)(a)(3), Stats. A first-time violator of either of the above subsections can be fined up to $500. It is against the law for an underage person to procure or attempt to procure an alcoholic beverage, to falsely represent his or her age for the purpose of obtaining alcohol, to enter premises licensed to sell alcohol, or to consume or possess alcohol on licensed premises. Sec. 125.07(4)(a), Stats. A first-time underage violator of Section 125.07(4)(b), Stats., can be fined up to $500, ordered to participate in a supervised work program, and have their driver’s license suspended.

Federal Laws

Federal Legal Sanctions

Pursuant to federal law, the United States Sentencing Guidelines establish mandatory minimum penalties for categories of drug offenses and provide for penalty enhancements in specific cases. Under these federal guidelines, courts can sentence a person for up to 6 years for unlawful possession of a controlled substance, including the distribution of a small amount (less than 250 grams) of marijuana; a sentence of life imprisonment can result from a conviction of possession of a controlled substance that results in death or bodily injury; and, possession of more than 5 grams of cocaine can trigger an intent to distribute penalty of 10–16 years in prison.

Federal Penalties and Sanctions for Illegal Possession of Controlled Substances

1st conviction: Up to 1 year imprisonment and fined at least $1,000 but not more than $100,000, or both. After 1 prior drug conviction: At least 15 days in prison, not to exceed 2 years and fined at least $2,500 but not more than $250,000, or both.

After 2 or more prior drug convictions: At least 90 days in prison, not to exceed 3 years and fined at least $5,000 but not more than $250,000, or both.

21 U.S.C. 853(a)(2) and 881(a)(7) Forfeiture of personal and real property used to possess or to facilitate possession of a controlled substance if that offense is punishable by more than 1 year imprisonment. (See special sentencing provisions re: crack, above.)

21 U.S.C. 881(a)(4) Forfeiture of vehicles, boats, aircraft or any other conveyance used to transport or conceal a controlled substance.

21 U.S.C. 844a Civil fine of up to $10,000.

21 U.S.C. 862 Denial of Federal benefits, such as student loans, grants, contracts, and professional and commercial licenses, up to 1 year for first offense, up to 5 years for second and subsequent offenses.

18 U.S.C. 922(g) Ineligible to purchase, receive or transport a firearm. Miscellaneous Revocation of certain Federal licenses and benefits, e.g. pilot licenses, public housing tenancy, etc., are vested within the authorities of individual Federal agencies.

Note: These are only Federal penalties and sanctions. Additional State penalties and sanctions may apply.

Health Effects of Alcohol & Other Drugs: Summary

The following is a partial list of drugs and the consequences of their use. The abuse of alcohol and the use of other drugs is detrimental to the health of the user. Further, the use of drugs and alcohol is not conducive to an academic atmosphere. Drugs impede the learning process and can cause disruption for other students and disturb their academic interests. The use of alcohol or drugs in the workplace may also impede the employee’s ability to perform in a safe and effective manner, and may result in injuries to others. Early diagnosis and treatment of drug and alcohol abuse is in the best interests of the student, employee and the university. For additional information concerning the health risks associated with substances covered by the Controlled Substances Act, refer to the chart on pages 24–25 of the U.S. Department of Justice publication, Drugs of Abuse, 1996 edition.

► Alcohol: Alcohol is the most frequently abused drug on campus and in society. Alcohol is chemically classified as a mind-altering drug because it contains ethanol and has the chemical power to depress the action of the central nervous system. This depression affects motor coordination, speech and vision. In great amounts, it can affect respiration and heart rate control. Death can result when the level of blood alcohol exceeds 0.40%. Prolonged abuse of alcohol can lead to alcoholism, malnutrition and cirrhosis.

► Anabolic Steroids: Concerns over a growing illicit market and prevalence of abuse, combined with the possibility of long-term effects of steroid use, led Congress to place anabolic steroids into Schedule III of the Controlled Substances Act (CSA). Although the adverse effects of large doses of multiple anabolic steroids are not well established, there is increasing evidence of serious health problems associated with the abuse of these agents, including cardiovascular damage, liver damage and damage to reproductive organs. Physical side effects include elevated blood pressure and cholesterol levels, severe acne, premature balding, reduced sexual function and testicular atrophy. The CSA defines anabolic steroids as any drug or hormonal substance chemically and pharmacologically related to testosterone (other than estrogens, progestins, and corticosteroids), that promotes muscle growth. Those commonly encountered on the illicit market include: boldenone (Equipose), ethylestrenol (Maxibolin), fluoxymesterone (Halotestin), methandriol, methandrostenolone (Dianabol), methyldrostanolone, nandrolone (Durabolin, Deca-Durabolin), oxandrolone (Anavar), oxymetholone (Anadrol), stanozolol (Winstrol), testosterone and trenbolone (Finajet).

➢ Cannabis: Three drugs that come from cannabis—marijuana, hashish, and hashish oil—are currently distributed on the U.S. illicit market. These drugs are deleterious to the health and impair the short-term memory and comprehension of the user. When used, they alter the sense of time and reduce the ability of the user to perform tasks requiring concentration and coordination. They also increase the heart rate and appetite. Motivation and cognition can be altered, making acquisition and retention of new information difficult. Long-term users may develop psychological dependence that can produce paranoia and psychosis. Because cannabis products are usually inhaled as unfiltered smoke, they are damaging to the lungs and pulmonary system and have more cancer-causing agents than tobacco.

➢ Depressants: Depressants produce central nervous system depression. Depressants (i.e., barbiturates, benzodiazepines, glutethimide, methaqualone, and meprobamate) can cause physical and psychological dependence that can lead to respiratory depression, coma and death, especially when used in concert with alcohol. Withdrawal can lead to restlessness, insomnia, convulsions and even death. Chloral hydrate, a hypnotic depressant, and alcohol constitute the infamous “date-rape drug” or “Mickey Finn.”

➢ Hallucinogens: LSD, PCP, mesca-line and peyote are classified as hallucinogens. Hallucinogens interrupt the brain messages that control the intellect and keep instincts in check. Large doses can produce convulsions and coma, heart and lung failure. Chronic users complain of persistent memory problems and speech difficulties for up to a year after their use. Because the drug stops the brain’s pain sensors, drug experiences may result in severe self-inflicted injuries. Persistent memory problems and speech difficulties may linger.

➢ Narcotics: The term narcotic derives from the Greek word for stupor. Narcotic use is associated with a variety of unwanted effects, including drowsiness, inability to concentrate, apathy, lessened physical activity, constriction of the pupils, dilation of the subcutaneous blood vessels causing flushing of the face and neck, constipation, nausea and vomiting and, most significantly, respiratory depression. With repeated use of narcotics, tolerance and dependence develop. Users of narcotics, such as heroin, codeine, morphine, and opium, are susceptible to overdose that can lead to convulsions, coma and death.

➢ Stimulants: Cocaine is the most potent stimulant of natural origin. “Crack” is the chunk form of cocaine that is a ready-to-use freebase. These drugs stimulate the central nervous system and are extremely addictive. They can cause psychological and physical dependency. Stimulants can lead to dilated pupils, increased pulse rate, elevated blood pressure, insomnia, loss of appetite, paranoia, and seizures. They can also cause death by disrupting the brain’s control of the heart and respiration. The use of amphetamines and other stimulants can have the same effect as cocaine and cause increased heart rates and blood pressure that can result in a stroke or heart failure. Side effects include dizziness, sleeplessness, and anxiety. They can also lead to hallucinations, paranoia, psychosis, and even a physical collapse. Nicotine is a highly addictive stimulant, whether ingested by smoking or chewing. This drug hits the brain in six seconds and damages the lungs, decreases heart strength, and is associated with many types of cancers when ingested by smoking. The withdrawal symptoms include anxiety, progressive restlessness, irritability, and sleep disturbances.

Myths About Alcohol

➢ Everyone drinks. Actually, 30% of UW–Madison students don’t drink at all or classify themselves as light drinkers.

➢ The use of alcohol is a personal choice that only affects the user. You are part of a 40,000+ student community and your substance use choices can affect the people you are with and the things you are doing.

➢ I see a lot of people using alcohol to socialize and I want to fit in and make friends. Choose to see and be with those people who care about themselves and their friends. There are many ways to make friends and many places to fit into the campus - join a student organization (there are 700+ to choose from!), volunteer, hang out at one of the Unions, join an intramural sports team.

➢ Make Moderation Part of Your Lifestyle. A Harvard University study indicated that 65% of UW–Madison undergraduates are high-risk drinkers and that 54% drink to get drunk. Moderation can lessen the negative consequences such as hurting you or others, vandalism, academic problems and failure. Begin by deciding if you’re going to drink alcohol or not! If you choose to drink, remember it’s not a race. Alternate with nonalcoholic drinks and be sure to eat. Think how much better you’ll feel in the morning after a moderate night, not to mention the positive effect moderation will have on your class attendance, grades, and friendships!
